Introduction

The Meeting Expectations JSON Sync Service provides the web service to upload, download and sync the Meeting Expectations data. This service inserts the data into the Google HRD Data store and retrieves data for sync requests. The data requests are secured with a username and hashed password. This document provides all the technical details necessary to install, configure, and operate the Sync Service software.

Overview

The Meeting Expectations JSON Sync Service is a J2EE 1.7 application that is intended to be started once and left running. The software writes a detailed log in the Data store viewer, of which should be monitored to determine the health of the software and can be used to gather some statistical information over time, but also the apparent performance of the network and the data store.

Installation

The GitHub repository MeetingExpectations download is the project folder. Spring Tool Suite 3.2 is used as a development GUI software that requires the Google App Engine plug-in.

The software project folder is a workspace directory or can be copied to any workspace installation directory. This is Maven project and pom.xml file has the listing of all required jars.

Pre-Requisites

1. Java JDK 1.7 - On C Program Files Directory
2. Maven 3.1.0 - On C Directory
3. Spring Tool Suite 3.2 - On C Directory

The Maven repository location is C:\Users\{username}\.m2. This repository location can be changed to as preferred in the settings.xml file.

Startup

Once there are no issues in compiling the code, the following command will start the sync process on the local host port (Jetty Server. Google app engine contains the jetty web server.)

mvn clean compile gae:run

Google Data Store entities are:

These six files declare all the variables & types that are used for MeetingExpecations data sync:

Actionitem.java
Agendaitem.java
Attachment.java
Directory.java
Meeting.java
Note.java

These three files provide the sync interface for iPad transactions:

MESync.java
MESyncServlet.java
MESyncUtil.java

Security

All the data store transactions are secured by secure protocol and the passwords are SHA256 hashed.
